CHAROWHAS IS RAIDED.

The Greek Peanut Dealer Is Charged With Selling Liquor.

The peanut-frit-bon-tea-parrot stand of Louis Charowhas on the east side of Kansas avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets was raided by Constable Williams of Justice Furry's court and Deputy Sheriff Tum and De Wilkerson yesterday afternoon.

The officers were armed with a warrant charging him with selling liquor, which was sworn to by two women. Louis was in, he generally is, for he devotes his time wholly to his business.

It required a great deal of time to explain to Louis what was up. Louis' comprehension of English is not extensive, and the constable has allowed considerable time to accumulate on his Greek grammar. By diligent searching the officers found two bottles of inferior beer and a jug of whiskey. "Looey," as he is called, did not hurry a bit in closing up the store, but took his own time in bringing in the peanuts and things from the sidewalk, and last, but not least, taking care of the parrot.

"Say, Looey," yelled an urchin, "who'll feed the parrot while you're gone?"

"Looey" replied in his native language, but it sounded emphatic.

On the way to Justice Furry's court, "Looey" stopped at P. I. Bonebrake's office and made arrangements to have that gentleman act as his bondsman.

At the justice court Mr. Furry said: "Louis, do you know what you are charged with?"

"Me?"

"Charged with?"

"Yes, do you know?"

"Me, charged with what?"

"You are charged with selling liquor."

"Me?"

"Yes, you."

"Oh, sell whiskey, that's all right."

"Whiskey and beer both."

"Me sell beer?"

"That's the charge."

"Me no sell beer. Me no sell whiskey. Me drink whiskey and beer all the time, but me not sell none. Fellahs offer me a dollar."

"I fix your bond at $500," interrupted Justice Furry.

"Dot's all right," replied Louis, "me have a thousand dollars in de bank, and me have a thousand in de store."

He didn't go to jail, and within an hour Louis and his parrot were doing business at the old stand.

The closing session of the Western Christian Temperance union was one of the most disorderly in the history of that organization. Many of the delegates resented the prominence of Helen M. Gougar, who practically turned the convention from one called to advance the interest of temperance to a woman's suffrage affair.

The subject matter this morning was the report of the committee on resolutions, and Mrs. Gougar sat on the rostrum and insisted on doing most of the talking. One woman went to a leading woman in the convention and asked her to haul Helen off the stage, as she was a red rag to most of the delegates. Mrs. Gougar, however, was not ousted. The president had little control over the delegates, and at one time to restore order she was compelled to ask a sister to lead in prayer.

The resolutions adopted endorse that political party by whatever name known that will advocate suffrage for women.

The convention determined to organize one thousand anticorporate leagues in Indiana this year.

IT KEEPS ON MOVING.

Sales of Valuable Property Now a Daily Occurrence.

M. F. RIGBY IS THE LATEST.

Has Purchased J. B. Bartholomew's Building for $15,000—Many Residence Places Being Purchased for Homes—Farm Property Also Lively.

For the first time in four years Topeka real estate dealers wear countenances which indicate that they have something to do. Topeka is not enjoying a boom, but real estate is moving and it is not being bought by speculators either. The bottom prices have been reached and not a day passes but that some important sale is recorded.

One of the most important sales of the week was Rowley Bros.' corner at Sixth street and Kansas avenue yesterday reported in this paper. The sale has been closed and the deeds made. The property was purchased by United States District Judge C. B. Foster for $2,400 cash. Rowley Bros. will continue to occupy the building, but Judge Foster expects to build a magnificent structure on the corner within two or three years.

The building occupied by J. B. Bartholomew & Co. 629 Kansas avenue, has been sold this week. M. F. Rigby is the purchaser and he paid $15,000 in cash for the property. Mr. Rigby expects to soon erect a new building and will move his confectionery and fruit business to the new location.

C. J. Devlin has lately purchased six lots at the corner of Thirteenth street and Topeka avenue. The purchase price was $6,500 and Mr. Devlin is now building a handsome new residence on the property.

The three lots at the corner of Third street and Topeka avenue have been bought by J. L. Ranney for $6,000, and he also will build a large residence at once.

The T. U. Thompson property at 1263 Topeka avenue has been sold to ex-Mayor R. L. Coffran for $5,700. The house will be remodeled and Mr. Coffran will make it his home.

A. W. Parks of North Topeka has purchased the John D. McMichael property at 1212 West Sixth street for $4,500. Mr. Parks will occupy the building as his residence within the coming year.

These are only a few of the most prominent sales which have recently been made in the city. There have been numerous sales of smaller properties in all parts of the city.

There is also a great deal of inquiry for farm property in this county. The largest sale made recently was the Barnes' farm of 640 acres, near Dover, for $14,000. T. E. Bowman was the purchaser, and he also bought eighty acres just south of the city.

An eighty acre farm near Watson was sold this week to O. M. Whitlow for $2,000 in cash.

K. E. Taylor, who has lived in western Kansas, has purchased a 180 acre farm two miles east of the city for $15,000. He will move his family on to the place soon and will make it his home.

J. B. Bartholomew said, in speaking of the movement of real estate: "There is a better feeling in real estate than for several months. There is a great demand for farms of all sizes, and the demands come from bona fide settlers who want homes. Things look better for Topeka."

At the office of T. E. Bowman & Co., the reporter was informed: "There are a great many people looking for farms. There was a sale of a 160 acre farm in Pennsylvania who are going to settle within fifty miles of Topeka. They are American farmers and expect to locate in Kansas soon. There is more activity in real estate than there has been for several years."

Ross & Co.: "Things are looking up in Topeka. I have made some figures and find that since January 1 over $214,000 worth of property outside of sheriff sales has changed hands in Topeka. Property is being sold nearly every day, and real estate sales are better than they have been since the boom."

A. M. Wood: "Property is being sold daily and I have several large cash sales 'on' now which will be closed this week. The sale of property shows a good healthy indication. We are selling farms to people from Indiana, Ohio and Illinois and there was a man here from North Carolina today, who intends to buy a farm near Topeka for cash. People now realize that the bottom has been reached and that real estate is on the upward tendency."

"Desirable rental property is scarce in Topeka and we have more demands than we can find property for."

BURGLARS PREVENTED.

A Daring Attempt Made to Rob the Warehouse, Pa. Office.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 11.—A daring attempt was made to rob the postoffice in this city at an early hour this morning by two men who had secreted themselves in the building. When the night clerk, Lewis Garney, opened the door leading from the mail room proper to the main entrance he found two men crouching in the mail room and the other in the corridor. He was confronted by a man who thrust a revolver in his face and told him to throw up his hands.

The clerk was frightened almost to death, and jumping back slammed the door in the face of the burglar. The assistant clerk blew a police whistle, and several officers were soon on the scene. The burglars had fled however.

Frank Charles was arrested about an hour after the attempted robbery on suspicion. The postoffice is situated in the heart of the city, and the would-be burglars doubtless thought there was no chance in the office, as it was time for his assistant to be off duty.

Had Twenty-Six Bridesmaids.

WARRENTON, Pa., Oct. 11.—Miss Elizabeth Fairfax Gaines, of Warrenton, was married here last night to Mr. Thomas Smith, chief justice of New Mexico. Four clergymen took part in the services and there were twenty-six bridesmaids. The church was beautifully decorated and was filled to overflowing with friends of the couple.

He Bears France's Ultimatum.

PORT LOUIS, Island of Mauritius, Oct. 11.—M. Le Myrede Velliers, the French envoy who is the bearer of the ultimatum of France to the government of Madagascar, arrived at Tamatave, Madagascar, on Tuesday last. The French envoy proceeded from the Tamatave to Antananarivo, the capital of the island.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Items of Interest About Topeka People and Visitors in Town.

A fashionable assemblage gathered in Grace Cathedral last evening to witness the marriage of Miss Edna Lakin, only daughter of Mrs. E. A. Belcher, and Dr. W. N. Veale. A few minutes before half past 8 o'clock Mrs. Campbell, the church organist, began the beautiful march from Lohengrin, and the bride party entered the church. The four bridesmaids came from the society and the groom and best man, Mr. John Posten, from the organist. The bridesmaids were Frances Lakin, Rosemond Horton, Bessie Gibson and Mary Colwell, proceeded half way up the center aisle, meeting there the maid of honor, Miss Theresa Rosington, the bride on the arm of her mother, and the four ushers, Ralph Peterson, Frank Welch, Thomas and Fred Kingsley. The bridesmaids and groom proceeded to the altar, and the bride and groom ascended to the chancel rail and received the benediction.

As the procession left the church the green and white prevailed in the church decorations, with palms along the chancel and bridal roses on the altar. Miss Rosington was gowned in Nile green mousseline de soie over green silk, low in the neck and sleeves to the elbow; she wore a half veil of white tulle and carried bridal roses.

The four bridesmaids were dainty frocks of white swiss muslin with valenciennes insertion. The round necks slightly low were bordered with ruffles of swiss and the big puffed sleeves were edged with deep ruffles also, and were edged by white swiss mousseline gloves. The young ladies wore sashes of Nile green ribbon and half veils of tulle, and carried white roses.

The bride's gown was an exquisite creation of ivory satin, duchesse, around the square yoke of puffed satin a deep bertha of accordion plaited chiffon fell to the waist and was caught
